

“I learned to see myself and my abilities in a new light.”

“The results are already impacting us as we work to incorporate individual strengths, to operate more effectively as a board, and to celebrate our accomplishments toward year-end goals.”

Course Overview

CoreClarity™ works with individuals to:

- Uncover their unique talents
- Build on those talents to create strengths
- Enhance personal productivity
- Improve interpersonal effectiveness.

Course Goal

To provide participants with a framework that supports them in easily communicating their unique personal competitive advantage to other people.

Communicating What Is Great

The challenge with being unique is in knowing how each of us is unique. CoreClarity™ enables a person to communicate, in a positive way, how their special qualities can best be applied to any situation. It offers a clear and concise set of terms that accurately and positively describe how we think, why we behave the way we do and what is really great about us.

Creating Dream Teams

Dream teams make their work look easy: with individuals consistently delivering peak performance. In-Powering People and Teams programmes recognise and apply the team's individual talents so that they are utilised to best effect.

Group Potential

Teams and organisations excel by maximising their combined potential. The In-Powering People & Teams programme helps people understand and appreciate the individual and collective potential of the group in a new light.

Maximising Group Competencies

CoreClarity™ helps teams and organisations clarify internal roles and maximise group competencies.

Course Materials

All participants receive a copy of the book Strengthfinder 2.0 by Tim Rath, plus a wealth of personalised charts.

Participants at the Inpowering People and Teams events additionally receive workbooks and in-depth materials.
